Excerpt: . manites, fellow-descendants of Israel, * like themselves, though under a curse, they felt bound to adopt them into their families and treat them like their own children. Therefore, it was a costly purchase that Wah-ker invited them to make; and on this occasion, Decker and his comrades bought what the Indians had brought of other wares, such as dressed skins and ponies and Mexican saddles, but declined the human goods. Wah-ker then produced a shivering little fouryear-old girl, whom he insisted on their buying. He asked an extravagant price, because he had brought her so far; away from the Santa Clara country. Her board could not have cost the hero much, for he used to picket his little captives to a stake by a rope around their necks, and for days at a time they had literally nothing to eat more than was...
